YEHUBORIM

Υηυβορίμ

“The God-Sealed Hollow Ones”

Yehuborim means “The God-Sealed Hollow Ones.” Think of a jar that has God’s name written on the outside, but is completely empty on the inside. This term describes a spiritual sickness — not any one people or religion — where someone claims to be God’s exclusive chosen representative, yet shows none of God’s qualities in how they actually live and act.

The person or institution suffering from this condition:

- ◆ Claims only they have access to God, and everyone else deserves punishment or damnation.
- ◆ Practices arrogance, violence, and control while calling it holiness.
- ◆ Goes through the motions of religion while the true spirit of the Divine has left them.
- ◆ Calls the Ancient Gods evil, inverts what is sacred, and uses spirituality as a weapon of slavery rather than a tool of elevation.

This pathology exists in all religions and all eras — it is a spiritual condition, not an ethnic one. When we pray against Yehuborim, we are calling on the Gods to remove this hollow arrogance from the world and from ourselves.

◆ PRAYER OF OSIRIS — TO BANISH YEHUBORIM ◆

Read aloud slowly. Then sit two minutes in silence, meditating on the hollow filled with Divine light.

BIRBURIM

Βιρβουριμ

“The Barbarous Utterances”

Birburim means “The Barbarous Utterances.” If Yehuborim is the disease, Birburim is what comes out of the diseased mouth — systematic, deliberate lies spoken about the Gods, about history, and about other peoples, all dressed up in the language of holiness. The word itself sounds like “bir-bir-bir” — the repetitive noise of a creature that makes sounds but no true meaning, like the braying of a donkey pretending to be a lion’s roar. There are eleven specific forms described in scripture — including rewriting history to steal credit from ancient civilizations, declaring that only one group can access God, stealing the Divine Names from older traditions and then cursing those same traditions, claiming God commands genocide, theft, and war, and condemning billions of innocent souls to eternal hellfire simply for being born outside one group. Birburim are not mistakes — they are calculated lies designed to keep people spiritually ignorant and controllable. When we recite this prayer, we are calling for all such false utterances to be silenced and dissolved.

ATIBILIBIL

Ἀτιβιλίβιλ

“Ruinous Blindness — Truth & Falsehood Mixed Inseparable”

Atibilibil means “The Ruinous Blindness That Mixes Truth and Falsehood Until They Are Inseparable.” It is the spiritual sickness of confusion — not ordinary confusion, but deliberately manufactured confusion used as a weapon. The name comes from two ancient roots: Ate (Greek), the goddess of ruinous delusion — the blindness so complete the victim thinks they can see clearly — and BLL (Semitic), to mix, to adulterate, to stir clean water with mud until the whole thing is undrinkable.

The lies of Birburim alone are not enough to control people — you need the confusion of Atibilibil to make people unable to tell the truth from the lie. This is how the cycle works: lies breed confusion, confusion breeds ignorance, ignorance breeds vulnerability, vulnerability breeds servitude. Historical examples include the Church keeping the Bible only in Latin so common people could not read it; the burning of ancient libraries; the removal of indigenous children from their families to destroy their languages and traditions. Today, the same pattern continues through media that floods us with so much contradictory information we cannot think clearly. When we pray against Atibilibil, we are calling for our minds to be cleared — for the water to be purified.

◆ PRAYER OF OSIRIS — TO CLEANSE ATIBILIBIL ◆

SAHIBURAH

Σαχιβουράχ

“The Shaming of the Divine Body”

Sahiburah means “The Shaming of the Divine Body” — the highest theological crime in Zevism. When a person or institution commits a crime — genocide, theft, conquest, oppression — and then says “God told me to do it,” two things happen. First, the crime is committed. Second, and worse, God’s name becomes stained in the minds of all who witnessed the crime. The criminal escapes blame. God receives the wound. The Egyptian concept of the Sabu is the glorious spiritual form of a God — the aspect of the Divine humans can perceive and approach. Sahiburah wounds that form in the consciousness of humanity. This is why billions today have turned away from any concept of the Divine — not because they rejected God, but because the crimes done in God’s name made the Divine unrecognizable and repulsive. Ordinary criminals can be redeemed; the one who says “God commanded my atrocities” creates a prison for themselves, because to repent they would have to admit the entire foundation of their religious identity is built on a lie.

VARVARIM

Βαρβαριμ

“The Barbarous Wars”

Varvarim means “The Barbarous Wars.” This is the physical, material enactment of all the previous sicknesses — when lies, confusion, and crimes in God’s name are transformed into organized, sustained, civilizational violence. Every Crusade, every Jihad, every holy war, every colonial missionary conquest falls under this term. The pattern is always the same: a priesthood declares God wills the war, the common people fight and die, and the priesthood remains safe and profits. Those who command the wars never fight them.

What makes Varvarim uniquely destructive is that unlike ordinary wars — which have natural limits — a war done in God’s name has no limit, because you can never fully “defeat” the enemy of God. The violence becomes structurally endless.

The long-term result of two thousand years of Varvarim is that the Name of God has been dragged through so much blood that billions of people now associate the very concept of “God” with violence and death. Entire ancient civilizations and their spiritual traditions were annihilated — the Egyptian religion, the Greek Mysteries, the Zoroastrian tradition, the Buddhist universities of India, the indigenous religions of the Americas. Nearly the entire accumulated spiritual wisdom of humanity was burned, smashed, or murdered. When we pray against Varvarim, we are calling for this cycle of sacred violence to be broken forever.

EILOTIL

Εἰλωτὶλ

“The Making of Spiritual Helots”

Eilotil means “The Making of Spiritual Helots” — or put simply: Spiritual Slavery. A Helot in ancient Sparta was an entire conquered people forced into permanent, hereditary serfdom. They worked the land that was once theirs. They had no rights. They were born into servitude and their children were born into it too. Eilotil is what happens when this structure is applied to the human soul’s relationship with God. Instead of approaching God as a child approaches a loving parent — with the goal of growing, ascending, and eventually becoming like the Divine — the person is taught that they are a slave, a servant, a worthless creature whose only acceptable posture before God is prostration and total submission.

Every authentic ancient tradition taught the opposite: the Egyptian declared “I am becoming Osiris.” The Greek initiate entered the Mysteries to ascend to the Gods. The Hindu scriptures say “Thou art That” — meaning your soul is, in essence, one with the Divine. All of these traditions taught that the human being is a child of the Divine, capable of growing toward God’s own nature.

Eilotil replaces that with permanent inferiority. The priesthood inserts itself between the soul and God and declares: you may not approach without us. Meditation is forbidden. Direct experience is heresy. The only acceptable path runs through the priest, the imam, the rabbi — the overseer who controls access to the master. When we pray against Eilotil, we are calling for the chains on humanity’s soul to be dissolved.

ISTORIYACH

Ἱστοριγιάκχ

“The Perversion of History”

Istoriych means “The Perversion of History” — the deliberate, organized fabrication of a false past, combined with the suppression of true history. This is not about simple mistakes or scholars getting things wrong. Istoriych is the calculated construction of a fictional historical narrative, presented as divine revelation, defended by institutional power, and backed up by the destruction of evidence that would contradict it.

One striking fact: the Hebrew language has no native word for “history.” It borrows the Greek word directly, because the concept of investigating the past through evidence — rather than simply reciting what you are commanded to remember — did not exist within the framework. This is important because it reveals a worldview where the past exists to be proclaimed, not investigated.

The scriptures offer this as an example: modern archaeology has found no evidence for major biblical narratives that underpin claims to divine election and territorial entitlement, while simultaneously treating the genuinely historical records of other ancient civilizations as mere mythology. The inversion is the crime: mythology presented as history, and history presented as mythology. Other examples include Christianity claiming the world was created in 4004 BC, Islam presenting pre-Islamic Arabia as a land of pure ignorance (erasing its rich spiritual heritage), and colonial education systems erasing the civilizational achievements of Africa, Asia, and the Americas. When we pray against Istoriych, we are calling for true history to be restored to humanity.

EPISTEMOT

Ἐπιστημότης

“The Death of Knowledge”

Epistemot means “The Death of Knowledge.” This term combines the Greek word Episteme — meaning the highest form of knowing, systematic understanding, true science — with Mot, the Semitic god of death and the devourer. Epistemot is literally the killing and swallowing of knowledge. It operates across three areas simultaneously:

- ◆ Spiritual knowledge — the techniques of meditation, prayer, and direct communion with the Divine are forbidden or declared sorcery.
- ◆ Scientific knowledge — astronomy, biology, medicine, physics are suppressed whenever they contradict the theological narrative (Galileo imprisoned, Bruno burned, Darwin condemned).
- ◆ Practical knowledge — architecture, engineering, medicine, agriculture wither when the infrastructure of learning is destroyed by religious violence.

The ancient world saw no separation between the sacred and the scientific. Egyptian priests were simultaneously mathematicians, doctors, astronomers, and spiritual teachers. The great schools of Greece combined philosophy, science, and mysticism. Science was worship; worship was science. Knowledge was a sacred act.

The most revealing theological sign of Epistemot is the story of Adam and Eve: in the foundational narrative of Abrahamic religion, the very first sin is the pursuit of knowledge. The tree of knowledge was forbidden. This positions ignorance as holy and understanding as rebellion against God — a perfect theological foundation for suppressing learning across two thousand years. When we pray against Epistemot, we call for the gates of true knowledge to reopen.

KAGOIM

Kαγοιμ

“The Denial of the Ka to the Nations”

Kagoim means “The Denial of the Ka to the Nations.” The Ka is the ancient Egyptian concept of the Divine life-force — the sacred spark that the Creator placed inside every living being. It is universal, belonging to every human on earth regardless of birth, nation, or background. Goim means “the nations” — all peoples. Kagoim is the doctrine that declares: the Divine spark belongs only to us. Everyone else is spiritually inferior, incapable of growth, and unworthy of the sacred. This is the engine that drives all the other pathologies. Without Kagoim — without the claim that outsiders are spiritually subhuman — there is no justification for the holy wars, the lies, the suppression of knowledge, or the spiritual slavery.

Zevism acknowledges that souls do begin at different levels of spiritual development. Someone at the beginning of the spiritual path, driven only by appetite and instinct, is called an Andrapod — a person living at the level of the animal. But here is the crucial distinction: in the ancient traditions, the Andrapod is Stage 1, the beginning of the journey. Every soul starts here, and every soul can ascend. The path is open to all.

Kagoim declares the Andrapod to be the permanent and final condition of the outsider. Not a seed that can grow, but a stone that cannot. Not a sleeping person who can be awakened, but a creature that is, by birth, incapable of waking. This lie is what makes the entire system of oppression appear “natural” and “divinely ordained.” Every great ancient school — the temples of Egypt, the Mysteries of Greece, the schools of Buddha — accepted sincere seekers regardless of their birth. When we pray against Kagoim, we call for the door of the sacred to be opened to all of humanity.

X

IZFET

Ἴσφét · Ἴsf.t

“The Cosmic Opposite of Ma’at”

Izfet is the oldest and most fundamental of all — it is not a practice or a behavior but the underlying cosmic force that all nine previous pathologies serve to produce and amplify. In ancient Egyptian theology, Izfet (also spelled Isfet) is the opposite of Ma’at. Where Ma’at is truth, justice, order, and balance — Izfet is falsehood, injustice, chaos, and dissolution. Izfet is best understood as cosmic entropy — the natural tendency of all things to fall apart, decay, and dissolve into chaos unless actively maintained. A garden untended returns to wilderness. A truth unspoken is forgotten. A civilization unguarded collapses. A soul uncultivated sinks. This is Izfet. It operates at every level simultaneously: physical (decay), biological (death), psychological (ignorance and delusion), social (injustice), and spiritual (the severing of the bond between humanity and the Gods).

The nine pathologies are the nine instruments by which Izfet is organized, amplified, and weaponized against humanity: Yehuborim is the agent who carries it; Birburim is the speech that spreads it; Atibilibil is the confusion it creates; Sabiburah is how it wounds the Divine; Varvarim is its physical violence; Eilotil is its enslavement of souls; Istoriyach is its falsification of time; Epistemot is its murder of knowledge; Kagoim is its exclusion of humanity from the sacred.

In Egyptian understanding, the war against Izfet is not optional and never ends. Ra battles Apophis every single night so the sun can rise again. The battle is never permanently won — it is held at bay through constant, active labor by both the Gods and humanity. Every act of truth, justice, knowledge, and spiritual cultivation is an act of war against Izfet. This is the central meaning of Zeivism: to be a co-laborer with the Gods in the eternal maintenance of the cosmic order.

◆ MESSAGE FROM OSIRIS — AGAINST IZFET ◆

Read as a declaration. Then sit in silence and ask: where in my life has Izfet taken root, and what shall I do today to serve Ma’at instead?

YE THAT SPEAK OF GREAT WORDS, PROVE YOURSELVES —
TO BECOME THE HERALDS WHO SHALL INHERIT
THE ONE AND TRUE WAR AND WISDOM,
THAT OF FIGHTING AND DENYING IZFET.
WHERE IS YOUR TEMPLE THAT YOU SUPPORT?
WHAT HAVE YOU BUILT?
WHERE ARE THE DOCTRINES YOU UPHOLD?
HOW HAVE YOU TREATED THEM?
WHERE IS THE PROOF THAT YOU HAVE DEMOLISHED YHUBOR WITHIN?
WHERE IS YOUR HOLINESS?
OBSERVE YOURSELVES AND MAKE PLENTY OF YOURSELVES,
TO MANIFEST THE DIVINE AND BLESSED DAY,
WHERE THE UTTERANCES WILL BE GIVEN FROM ABOVE,
TO BANISH THE ONE BEYOND ALL NAMES,
WHICH YOU KNOW AS ISFET.
— OSIRIS
